The Best Defense...

Intelligent Healthcare Displays is dedicated to establishing your front line defense in the war against transferable disease. Responding to recommendations from the CDC we created over 500 unique products to help battle contagions where it matters most. With IHD products you can effectively communicate the importance of essential hygiene etiquette to students, patients and staff while providing your work environment with powerful tools for fighting the spread of bacteria, virus and disease.

IHD

Dedicated to establishing your front line defense in the war against transferable disease.

Despite the best efforts of responsible professionals like you, infectious disease in American hospitals, schools and public buildings is now at a critical level. Meanwhile the current economic climate is creating a challenging environment for directors and facility managers responsible for investing in this critical initiative.

According to recent national estimates from the CDC, there are over 1,700,000 hospital infections, including 350,000 new MRSA cases, leading to 90,000 deaths each year. While these numbers are alarming, we can immediately reduce the spread of germs, viruses and infection by deploying the products found in this catalog.

JOURNEY FOR CHILDREN

We donate 2% of our profits to Journey for Children.

Journey for Children

(JFC) is a humanitarian, nonprofit organization that provides quality primary healthcare services to medically underserved populations worldwide.

Hand Hygiene Programs Pay Big Dividends

In our public and private schools, absences caused by illness are responsible for over 164,000,000 lost school days per year. A great number of these days could be reduced if children properly washed their hands with more regularity.

When hand hygiene programs are properly instituted in schools, they become an integral part of government school funding. A recent study showed that youngsters who washed their hands four times a day had 24% fewer sick days due to respiratory illness and 51% fewer sick days due to upset stomach.

Epidemiologists and the CDC agree: Education is the cornerstone of proper hygiene practices. Intelligent Healthcare Displays will help you create a safety culture for all ages, promoting hygiene compliance, encouraging teamwork and improving communication between staff and the public. Use the effective tools we've created to provide your office, school or hospital with powerful prevention products and clear, memorable directives.

Clean Hands Club

It's never too early to teach the importance of hygiene etiquette. Our Clean Hands Club provides teachers and healthcare professionals an effective way to encourage youngsters to practice hand hygiene and cover-the-cough protocol in a fun, rewarding way. With the help of pediatric specialists and renowned graphic illustrator, Wayne Patrick, we developed our unique line of pediatric control stations, posters and collectible, kid-friendly stickers to encourage kids of all ages to form healthy hygiene habits.

Why IHD?

We know infection control. We understand the materials, designs and budget requirements demanded by Hospital Administrators, Facility Managers, Infection Control Specialists and Preventionists, nationwide. With our 35 years of manufacturing and design experience, no other company has the market research, resources and engineering talent that goes into every product we sell.
